

Augusta, Kentucky Residence

Conversion of an existing tobacco barn on the property involved relocating the structure for passive solar orientation, installation of geo-thermal heating and cooling and a rainwater collection system. Overlooking the Alpaca pasture, the transformed structure is the main residence for a working farm.

